C. OF C. DRIVE IS OFF TO A FLYING START WITH 214 MEMBERS

"A Business Man Who Does Not Have Enough Confidence in His Own Town to Invest in a Membership is a Liability, Not an Asset" Says Attorney Dow—Roy Smith Here Friday.

With 214 memberships reported Wednesday evening the big membership drive of Kingston's Chamber of Commerce has started under full steam, and the campaign seems sure to close with one of the largest memberships of any chamber of commerce along the Hudson river valley. The next meeting of the workers will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock at which time Secretary Roy Smith of Albany's chamber of commerce will be present and speak.

The meeting of the workers Wednesday evening was full of ginger and enthusiasm with Harry Dodge present to make the lions roar, and Roy Smith did in "Garry Me Back to Old Virginia" and other popular favorites. County Judge Joseph M. Fowler, president of the chamber of commerce, presided, and after the singers had filled up on the goodly menu that had been supplied, and stopped for a breathing spell, the judge introduced Attorney Alexander Dow of Poughkeepsie, who is not only a prominent lawyer of the Bridge City, but also an active chamber of commerce worker and a member of Poughkeepsie's Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Dow congratulated Kingston on the opening day's report of memberships, and said that he saw no reason why Kingston should not close the campaign with a membership of one thousand loyal men and women who had the best interests of the city at heart. He then outlined briefly the work accomplished in Poughkeepsie in forming a chamber of commerce.

Poughkeepsie like Kingston and like any other city had men who stood on the side lines and sneered and refused to help or assist in any way, and men of that calibre are a detriment to any city.

"You have men who are chronic kickers," said Mr. Dow, "but if they want to kick let them become members of the chamber of commerce and kick from the inside instead of kicking from without."

"Then you will find the man who would not join because because because," but I tell you that a business or professional man that has not enough confidence in his own town to invest $25 in a chamber of commerce membership is not an asset but a liability to your city."

Attorney Dow said that every city needed a chamber of commerce organization, and told of some of his own experiences as a chamber of commerce worker in the membership drives inaugurated in the bridge city. He said that last year when the housing shortage struck the entire country he found Poughkeepsie like other cities with a shortage of houses, which was the natural outcome of five years of non-building. The housing shortage was placed up to the chamber of commerce and they decided to raise funds for a housing corporation to erect houses. They raised $75,000, and built houses. It was true that these houses were built at the peak of prices both of labor and materials, but at the time we could form the drop in building prices. But as a result, there is no housing shortage in Poughkeepsie and in time the houses erected by the housing corporation will be disposed of.

Every community had its pessimists, and Poughkeepsie had its share who said that nothing could be done to benefit the city. Those were the men and women who stood on the side lines and were the first to criticize. Kingston undoubtedly had its share of them as well as every city and hamlet in the country. What every city needed was liberal supply of optimists. Those men and women who believed that their own city was the best city in the country and who were always active supporters of it, and were boosting their home town over every hour and every minute.

The optimists were the ones who believed in chamber of commerce work and who contributed their $25 membership fee, and by exhibiting themselves with the organization put their shoulders to the wheels of their city's progress.

Mr. Dow brought the well known of Poughkeepsie's chamber of commerce, and said that the cities along the Hudson river were all working together to make the Hudson river valley prosperous.

His talk was both stimulating and encouraging, and at the close he was given a rousing vote of thanks.

Louis F. Cox, president of the Catskill Mountains Association, introduced and presided over the closing and announced the list of the names and amounts of the contributions which had been reported to the board of the association. He said that this year they had a campaign under way to raise $12,000. They really needed $20,000, but would be satisfied with the smaller amount. This money would be used for publicity purposes and construction work.

With one town in the valley, and several of the others not getting around to the reports submitted at the meeting Wednesday evening:

AUTOMOTIVE MEN WILL AID BOYS

Will Pay for Memberships in Y. M. C. A. and Gymnasium Salts for Ten Poor Boys in Kingston—Show Surplus Disposed Of.

Final accounting of the Automobile Show and discussion of how best to dispose of the surplus profits occupied the attention of the Kingston Automotive Dealers following a banquet at Cuno's Lake Katrine hotel Wednesday evening. It was finally decided to retain the money in the treasury instead of distributing it, as has been done in previous years, and the treasurer was directed to deposit the greater part in a special account, bearing interest, and to be drawn upon by a vote of two-thirds of the members.

It was also decided to pay for Y. M. C. A. memberships for 10 poor boys and equip each of the boys with a gymnasium outfit. Charles Warren will furnish the equipment at cost. A committee was appointed to carry out the provisions of this resolution, which will not only be of substantial benefit to 10 needy boys but will also aid in the support of the Automotive Dealers in the Y. M. C. A. As every member of the Automotive Dealers is, individually, a member of the Y. M. C. A. and of the Chamber of Commerce, it was thought unnecessary for the association to take out memberships in either.

WELCOME SMITH BACK FRIDAY

Roy Smith, manager of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, and known all over the United States, and Canada as a chamber of commerce executive than whom none better is anywhere to be found, will be the speaker at Friday evening's meeting in the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The high standard of the ability of the speakers at these meetings is attracting a great deal of favorable comment. George Dugan started the campaign machinery Monday evening with a talk which those who heard him will never forget.

Alexander Dow of Poughkeepsie Wednesday evening put a power of eloquence into his remarks based on his own experience as a worker in the Poughkeepsie Chamber of Commerce that brought the fire of enthusiasm and determination to greater heights than ever before.

Now comes Roy Smith, whom Kingston knows and loves and whose visits to Kingston are looked forward to with great expectations, which are always realized many times over.

Each captain has pledged a full quota of workers in attendance to hear Roy Smith Friday evening.

Friday's meeting will be of the kind that generates and harnesses the powerful energy that will bring Kingston to new levels of civic and commercial achievement.

ALLIED HAIT WORRIES GERMANS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, June 16.—Germany sent a note to the Allies today protesting against the inactivity of the Allies against the German troops in Upper Silesia. The German government cited the treaty of Versailles as a basis for the protest.

The Allied High Commission in Upper Silesia offered the British advance against the Polish insurgents halted several days ago on the ground that the German volunteers should retire before the Allies continued their operations.

General Hecker, commander of the German volunteers, has begun to move back his troops and has already withdrawn some of the German outposts, according to information from Oppeln.

SEIZE ARMS ON WAY TO IRELAND

Hundreds of Machine Guns and Other Materials Concealed in Coal Bankers' Freight Field at Hoboken Pending Investigation.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 16.—Between 500 and 600 Thompson machine guns and other war materials which were seized on board the freighter East Side in the belief that they were consigned to the Irish Republican army were under a joint guard of policemen and federal customs officers in Hoboken today while the United States authorities made an investigation to try to find out who had purchased the arms, who had shipped them and the identity of the consignee.

The war supplies were taken from the freighter just a short time before she sailed for Norfolk. Her ultimate destination is an Irish port. The machine guns together with many varieties of magazines, a case of ammunition and 175 boxes believed to hold small arms are valued at $150,000. The machine guns are known as Thompson sub-machine guns and are the latest thing in death-dealing machinery, being capable of firing more than 600 shots a minute.

The search warrant upon which the machine guns were seized had been issued by the Hoboken police. Afterwards a difference of opinion developed between the Hoboken police and the federal authorities as to the real custodians of the weapons so it was decided to put a joint guard over them until the matter could be decided at a hearing before Recorder Adolph Carsten at Hoboken.

The machine guns were manufactured by the Colt's Patent Fire Arms Manufacturing Company.

The East Side is not listed in Lloyd's register of shipping for 1920. She is said to have been built by the United States Shipping Board and leased to the Cosmopolitan Shipping Company.

Federal officials of the port of New York said that "certain arms had been detained pending an investigation," but refused to say if the authorities had any definite information about arms and ammunition being smuggled from this port to Ireland for use by the Sinn Fein.

The machine guns had been concealed in sacks that were hidden in the East Side's coal bunkers.

When the proceedings were called before Recorder Carsten at Hoboken to determine whether the police or the federal authorities should have custody of the arms, the federal officials were not ready to proceed so an adjournment was taken until this afternoon.

London, June 16.—Whether or not any formal representations will be made to the United States regarding the alleged shipment of arms and munitions to Ireland for use by the Sinn Fein will not be determined until official advice is received regarding the seizure of 600 machine guns at Hoboken, N. J., yesterday.

It was stated at the foreign office this afternoon that no word has been received officially confirming the press reports from New York that war materials, including many machine guns, had been taken from the ship East Side just before she was to sail. According to the unofficial advice the East Side was to touch at an Irish port.

Formal announcement was recently made in the house of commons by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, that a considerable quantity of American ammunition had been seized in Dublin by the crown forces.

NEARLY HIT FREIGHT TRAIN

Knowing what to do at the right time undoubtedly saved Russell Winne and Frank Brayton from serious injuries and probably death Wednesday night. The young men, who are employed at Behren's motorcycle shop, 500 Broadway, were out on an Indian motorcycle. Brayton was on the rear seat. They were coming towards this city about 10:30 o'clock on the Saugerties road and on approaching the West Shore railroad crossing near the Watson Farm saw several automobiles ahead of them filled with men who had been attending a meeting of the Automotive Dealers at Lake Katrine. They saw they were moving and started to pass them. When they reached the railroad crossing they saw that the rates were down for a passing freight train. The motorcycle was going at such a fast speed Winne was unable to stop it although he made a strong effort. Luckily it went under the gate with them and as it slid on the planks at the side of the track, and on the tracks, Winne and Brayton stuck out their feet and turned the motorcycle on its side and they went sprawling on the planks, the motorcycle landing so close to the moving freight cars that it was hit, but the damage was slight. Brayton had one wrist bruised and ran some splinters in one hand, while Winne was not hurt, although they slid about five feet over the rough planks.

RAIL SCHOOL MEETING

To this end hearings have been held at Rochester, Watertown and Binghamton and have been very successful because of the large attendance and deep interest shown. This discussion has been full of earnest thought and governed by a sense of the vital importance of the work undertaken by the committee.

The board of school directors of the second supervisory district will meet in the high school in Highland on Tuesday morning, June 21, at 11 o'clock, standard time. At the organization meeting held at New Paltz, May 17, there was filed with the committee a communication signed by the teachers of the second supervisory district commending to the board in the highest terms John U. Gillette of Port Jervis, the present superintendent. Charles W. Van Duser, Wallkill, town of Poughkeepsie, is chairman of the board, and Mrs. Edward Young, Wilson, of the town of Northwauke, clerk.

RUSSIA HAMPERS SENATOR FRANCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, June 16.—The "cold shoulder policy" which Soviet Russia is adopting toward the United States may prevent United States Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, from carrying out his plan to study Russian conditions at close range.

Senator France's request for passport papers to get into Russia has not been definitely refused, but delay has developed and it was pointed out today that the Moscow soviet has constructed a veritable Chinese wall around the country, shutting it off completely from the rest of the world. Already passports have been refused to several other Americans, but whether an exception will be made in the case of the senator is not yet apparent.

Senator France denied to the International News Service a report from Riga that the soviet government had refused to allow him to enter Russia. Senator France pointed out that he had come to Berlin from London and had not yet been in Riga. While in London the senator called upon Leonid Krassin, head of the Russian Bolshevik train mission, and asked his assistance in getting into Berlin and endeavor to get his passport issued by the soviet envoy to Germany.

During the interval of waiting the senator is conferring with persons conversant with industrial conditions in Russia to get a line on the situation.

Should Senator France eventually get the desired permission to enter soviet Russia he probably will have Germans to thank in no small measure. The senator is said to be keenly disappointed over the turn affairs have taken, but has not yet given up hope of getting into Russia.

TRY MAULIFFE HERE MONDAY

To Which Time Hearing was Adjourned in Police Court—The First Arrest for Violation of City's Bus Ordinance.

This morning in police court the trial of James McAuliffe, 26 years old, arrested on a charge of violating the city's bus ordinance, was adjourned to Monday morning. Corporation Counsel W. D. Brinnier represents the city, while A. J. Cook appears for McAuliffe, who drives for the Longyear Woodstock bus line.

McAuliffe was arrested on Railroad avenue on June 7 by Officer Dempsey on a charge of violating the ordinance in receiving and discharging passengers at the West Shore station instead of at the central bus terminal. At the time Mr. Longyear applied for permission to use the city streets for his bus line, as required by the state law, the common council designated certain streets over which his bus would be allowed to run and also designated the terminals he should stop at to receive and discharge passengers.

Mr. Longyear at that time wanted permission to stop at the railroad station, but permission was refused by the council as the other bus lines were compelled to stop at the bus terminals and were obeying the regulations of the ordinance.

The arrest of McAuliffe was the first under the new ordinance, and the outcome will be watched by other bus line proprietors with interest, for if McAuliffe is discharged it will mean that the bus ordinance is of little or no effect. Corporation Counsel Brinnier advised Chief of Police Wood this morning to arrest any of Longyear's drivers if they persisted in ignoring the regulations of the bus ordinance.

"ONE BIG UNION" PROPOSAL BEFORE FEDERATION OF LABOR

Resolutions Introduced That Would Carry Into Effect the Most Radical Principles—Irish Question Gives Rise to Charges and Will Bring on a Fight.

Denver, Col., June 16.—Proposals of a "one big union" in the American Federation of Labor has been made for the first time in the federation's history.

Two resolutions introduced today provide for united action by all crafts affiliated with the Federation which would enable the body to operate in effect as long as one big union on matters vital to organized labor in general.

One resolution would empower the executive council with the authority to declare a general strike to combat nation-wide movements to reduce wages and union standards.

The other, introduced by delegates from the West Virginia State Federation of Labor, declaring that "organized labor, having reached the point in its history of advancement where there must be a unit of understanding and action, one craft with another, or be destroyed by the enemies of our cause," provides that in their contracts all crafts shall insert a clause which will enable each to come to the aid of the other and that all future contracts entered into by organized labor shall expire simultaneously.

Declaring that the credit system of the country is being used by the great banking firms and insurance groups to crush organized labor, a resolution introduced by Matthew Woll, eighth vice president of the Federation proposes that the executive council make an exhaustive investigation of the system and ascertain the possibilities of pooling all the proxies held by organized labor in mutual insurance companies to combat the interest inimical to the unions, "with their own weapons."

NEW RESIDENT PRAISES TREES

The Kiwanis Club was personally conducted through an excellent luncheon at The Kirkland today by Sam Saulpaugh, made arrangements for a large delegation to leave for Newburgh this afternoon to attend the Newburgh Kiwanis Club's charter presentation, and heard M. W. D. Boerker, Ph.D., forestry expert and now teacher of civics in the Kingston High School, explain very briefly the value of trees to a community and Kingston's good fortune in possessing so many and of such excellent quality.

Giving an idea of what trees are getting to be worth in real money, Mr. Boerker said that a twelve-inch maple shade tree delivered from the nursery to one of his clients in the mountains had cost $300. A rough but very conservative value of Kingston's shade trees, he said, would be $300,000. He suggested several ways in which more trees could be utilized and urged the care and preservation of those already here. One accident such as occurred in Newburgh where a decayed tree fell and killed some one for whose life the city had to pay heavily would be costly enough to keep the city's trees in good condition several years. His last suggestion, novel and, because it related to taxes, interesting, was the possibility of a municipal forest here on land not adapted for other uses. In Europe, he said, there were many cities who derived sufficient revenue from their own forests to pay their running expenses, making the tax rate practically nil. He did not claim such a thing was possible here but in Massachusetts several cities are making good progress and any city by systematic planting can harvest enough lumber, etc., from its own forest to materially reduce the tax rate.

Sam Bernstein announced that there will be ball practice every Tuesday evening until the team doesn't need any more practice.

One would imagine, judging from the above photo, that Fritz and Tommy have always been bosom pals. Instead of having been bitter enemies but a short time ago. The photo shows a German soldier in Oppein, German Silesia, lending a newly-arrived British soldier a hand with his kit. The British troops were sent to Silesia from Cologne to take a hand in the settlement of the trouble between the Germans and the Polish insurgents. They were welcomed by the inhabitants of Oppein as saviors of the German situation in Silesia.

As a consequence the little one has been in the water, and the mother had a desperate time to get it out of the tank to save it from drowning. Strange to say, sea lions cannot swim until they are taught by the mother, when about one month old. When the little one was deposited on the shore the father attacked it and the mother rescued her babe again only after a bitter fight.

ALLIES MEET TO SPLIT INDEMNITY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, June 16.—A series of compromise conferences were begun at the foreign office today to determine the amount that each of the European powers shall get from the installment of German indemnity already paid. This question was thought to have been settled at Spa, but some of the nations took exceptions to the pro rata that were allotted by the supreme council. Delegates representing the finance ministers of all the interested powers are taking part in the conferences.

France, England, Belgium and Italy are sticking to the percentages allotted to them at Spa, but the small nations that were associated with the big allies in the war are quarrelling over the share allotted to them. Representatives of the chief allied nations were disposed to lump the residue, after subtracting the sums granted to Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy, and some of the little countries were seized with the fear that they were not going to get enough.

Even Czechoslovakia, one of the new countries created out of the old Austro-Hungarian empire, is claiming part of the German reparations on the ground she declared war against Germany a few days before the conflict ended.

After the delegates reach agreement on the amounts to be distributed to the little nations the finance ministers will meet to approve the settlement.

NAVY DEPLORES SIMS'S ACTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 16.—The following comment, headed "Admiral Sims's Indiscretion", will appear in the July issue of "Our Navy," the organ of the United States Navy.

"There are several angles to be considered in Rear Admiral Sims's recent action in London, when he made a speech which resulted in columns of press comment throughout the country. The admiral must be given credit for possessing the courage of his convictions. That is an admirable quality. On the other hand, whether Admiral Sims's statements were justified or not, it seems to us that an American admiral in a foreign country, is hardly the proper official to make any international political statements in public. There has been entirely too much publicity in recent years accorded the navy on such incidents. It does the navy no good and this is the real point that men of all ranks and ratings should keep before their eyes. During the war the navy was known as 'The Silent Service.' It would be highly desirable, it seems to us, to perpetuate that name."

BURY M'GIVNEY FRIDAY MORNING

The body of Private Raymond T. McGivney arrived in this city from Hoboken on Wednesday and a military funeral will be held on Friday from the undertaking parlors of James M. Murphy on Broadway at 4:45 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock where a solemn high Mass of requiem will be celebrated for the repose of his soul. The interment will be made with full military honors in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Private McGivney was killed in France during the world war. He was a son of the late Thomas McGivney of this city, the family having resided at No. 138 Broadway. He enlisted at Riverton, N. J., where his mother and sister, Mary, now reside. He went overseas with the 311th Ambulance Company, 368th Sanitary Train Hospital, Corps, attached to the 78th Division.

AT THE THEATRES.

"Passion" At Keene's—Robert Rosworth At Opera House.

Poli Negri in "Passion" at Keene's for three days starting today is the latest sensation in the way of a screen production big enough to successfully tie with the biggest stage productions on the same flooring. Heading a cast of 5,000 persons is Poli Negri, the famous continental star whose artistic achievements in this play are said to be such as to place her at the top rung of the ladder of fame with the proverbial "overnight" rapidity. The story has to do with the meteoric rise and fall of a winsome, little French milliner who reaches the zenith of her glory as the ruler of a king and who finally arrives at her lowest ebb in the shadow of the hatred of millions of people who had come to regard her as a vicious creature in skirts when as a matter of fact in the last analysis, she was a witty, capricious, fairy girl who was foolish enough to want her every whim gratified while she had the opportunity.

"His Own Law" starring Robert Rosworth is the attraction at the Opera House for three days starting today. It is a stirring two-act drama story of a friendship that stood the test of all time. Bobby Vernon in a Christie comedy "Home-Run Hero" is the comedy attraction at the Auditorium theatre. Also Art Acord in "The White Horseman," a thrilling western chapter play with excitement, thrills and hard riding. Friday Ray Stewart in "The Outlaw."

TRICK TO PLEASE CHILDREN

New Paper Butterflies May Be Made to Move Through the Air With Appearance of Life.

Here is a charming little experiment that can be carried out by means of a Sedilitz powder, one of the last things in the world, says Science and Invention, from which one would expect any amusement. Secure an empty jam jar and get a good-sized cork to act as a stopper to this. In the center of the cork bore a hole, through which opening a funnel is pushed. The way in which this is done can be seen from the sketch. Next, from brightly colored tissue paper cut the shapes of three or four butterflies. In the middle of each of these, just between the wings, fasten with glue a thin strip of cork. This serves to act as a body for the paper insect and also helps in the balance of the butterflies when they are in the air.

Fill the jar about half full with water. Then into it tip the contents of the packets forming the Sedilitz powder. Quickly replace the cork in the jar and put the paper butterflies into the funnel. Soon the gas generated by the effervescence rises and this causes the butterflies to fly up and down in a most lifelike manner. The effect continues for quite a good while, see.

ing that the comparative smallness of the opening of the funnel only allows a little of the gas to pass out at a time. This is all-sufficient to keep the butterflies fitting up and down in a most fascinating manner.

Remarkable Snake Palm.

In Cincinnati, O., a "snake palm" is on exhibition that bloomed without earth or water. Last fall the owner dug up the plant from the front lawn and removing the dirt placed it in a small box in the cellar for the winter. A mottled green and tan stalk, three inches in circumference, grew from the center to a height of three feet, and developed a lily cup of deep magenta color. This is similar in shape to a calla lily, but of much greater dimensions, the cup being a foot deep. Within the lily is a long magenta stamen, about 15 inches in length. The owner has had the bulb more than 15 years, and in the summer it attracted considerable attention through its beautiful palm leaves, but this is the first time it has blossomed.

Dear Kill and Eat Geese.

Not many have heard of deer killing and eating geese, but a farmer in British Columbia lost several geese that way. One day the farmer heard his gander making an awful commotion and upon investigation found a herd of red deer chasing the geese. Before he could intervene they had caught up with the birds and killed two and proceeded to eat them. The farmer had found the remains of some geese with the feet and legs chewed to a pulp a few days before.

"Hears" Obstacles in Path.

A blind lawyer, who is also a musician in Atlanta, Ga., gets around without any assistance, because he "hears" the walls and posts and every other material obstacle in his path. He says he can follow the building line along the sidewalk by sound. He walks fearlessly about the streets, turns without hesitation at corners and can estimate very accurately the width of the sidewalk, always knowing when it becomes wider or narrower.

Mare Took Daughter's Part.

Two maids, mother and daughter, on a New Brunswick farm, foiled about the same time. All went well until they were turned out to pasture. The old mare seeing her presumptuous filly with a feed chased her and took possession of the food. The filly took a liking to its grand dame and she successfully raised both foals. The younger mare was put to regular work some after.

Partridge and Hen in Fight.

Started by a noise among his poultry, an amateur farmer discovered a partridge fighting one of his hens. Both of the birds had a bunch of chicks the same age and they had become mixed. They added to the noise by crying while the mother birds fought.

Queer Conversation.

While talking with a friend, it was common with an Englishman to find the humor and wit in the words used around the hearth. The words were repeated all around and even the cat, all in earnest, tried to ship.

Indignant Post.

"To have farmers" said a British man one day. "Farmers make you think you are better than you are, and so you have them." —London Transcript.

A PRACTICAL
CAREER IN MUSIC

Harry Dodge Traces His Journey From 7-year-old Boy's Visit To Teacher To Present and Describes Changes In Teaching Methods To Rotary.

A vocational talk on the teaching of music was given by Harry P. Dodge at the Rotary Club luncheon on Wednesday in the form of the story of the speaker's life, which began, musically, when he was seven years of age. At that time he took his first piano lesson and was so anxious to get it that he was waiting at the home of the teacher, Mrs. C. N. Reed, then Miss Norton, at 7 o'clock in the morning. For eight years he took lessons from local teachers and in 1898 took a position in Rider's music store, which he held for two years. While there he was solicited to apply for the position of organist of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church at a salary of $75 a year. This position he procured and filled until he went to the Warts Street Baptist Church, where he was organist for 15 years. During this term he studied organ music with S. B. Warren of New York city and later took up piano music. For 14 years he made weekly trips to New York city in connection with his studies. After two years as organist of St. John's Church and a year of rest on account of impaired health, he took up the duties of his present position in Trinity M. E. Church, Poughkeepsie.

Music teachers' prices are sometimes thought to be high, Mr. Dodge said, and people seldom considered that a music teacher had any investment in tools or stock in trade. His New York studies cost $5,600, beside the value of the time spent, and he had at least $3,600 invested in pianos and a musical library, showing that learning to know how cost something and there was also cost for equipment.

The trade of teaching have been revolutionized in recent years. The belief used to be that only a few persons had any capacity for music. The theory now is that every child has this capacity, more or less latent in most cases, but capable of development and training. Where an adult has no taste for music it is because the talent was never developed and has become crowded out by other matters. The method of teaching children is now by developing first, in a natural manner, playing simple tunes and getting the child to catch the rhythm by singing, dancing, marching or gestures. This has superseded the old dry and dull finger exercises. The old method was to try to pound music into the child. The new method is to draw it out.

The Rotarians were urged by President Wattle, W. S. Mac Donough and John E. Mahar to get behind the Chamber of Commerce membership campaign, not only by joining, but by working to induce others to join.

Louis F. Coe, president of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association, was introduced as a new member and duly and impressively educated in the duties of membership by Charles E. Lewis, chairman of the Education Committee.

A joint dinner with the Kiwanis Club is being managed for a date late in June at Cuneo's Lake Katrine resort.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES.

Yanks Stopped—Giants Take Extra Inning Game.

Little Dickie Kerr kept the heavy members of the Yankees in check and the White Sox took the opener.

Tris Speaker broke up a pitching duel with a single and a stolen base in the eleventh inning at Philadelphia that led to Cleveland scoring the winning run.

Grimes' fine pitching and Kil-duff's timely hitting helped the Dodgers rout the league-leading Pirates.

Smith, of the Phillies, gave up but five hits, yet the Reds took his measure.

A five hit shut out was credited to Oeschger of the Braves against the Cardinals.

Singles by Shanks, O'Rourke, Judge and Harris in the eighth gave the Senators a victory over the Browns.

The Giants came from behind in the twelfth and hammered Jim Vaughn for four runs and the victory.

The fast-going Baltimore Orioles were stopped by Buffalo in the second game of a twin bill after winning 27 straight games and tying the record hung up by Corsicana of the Texas league in 1902.

What You Will See in this Wonderful Masterpiece:

You'll see Pola Negri. You'll feel her strange magnetism.

You'll see her first as little Jeanne, a friendless waif from the country, who finds work in gay Paris as a milliner's apprentice.

You'll see her radiant beauty and audacity carry her past the barriers of poverty, jealousy and greed to the pinnacle of place and power.

This is the intimate romance of a wonder woman.

You'll see men fight and die for her.

You'll laugh, and thrill and cry with her.

As you live through the intimate scenes—as you gaze breathless upon the mighty, cataclysmic panoramas in which thousands pass on the stage of life, you never for a moment forget the miracle woman in whom Pola Negri, artiste incomparable, has breathed the breath of passionate life.

NOTED SPEAKER AT NEW PAITZ

Mrs. Wilmet Talks On Home Decoration—Similar Meetings Scheduled By Home Bureau at Clintondale, Saugerties, Milton, High Falls and West Hurley.

The first of a series of six meetings on Home Decoration to be held in the county this week took place Wednesday night in the Grange Hall at New Paltz, where a large audience greeted Mrs. Grace R. Wilmet of New York city, the speaker of the evening. Mrs. Wilmet is not only a well known authority on the subject of "Home Decoration" but also a fluent, graceful speaker who holds the closest attention of her audience from beginning to end without effort.

Mrs. Wilmet emphasized the fact that "Home Decoration" does not necessarily mean the expenditure of a lot of money, but rather the expenditure of thought and study. She particularly dislikes the term "interior decoration" as it is incorrectly used and so many atrocities are committed in that name. The term, she says, should imply, she says, a selection of color and material for walls, wood and furnishings, floors, and furniture and the proper arrangement of everything that goes into a room.

The background is the essential feature of the room and should have as its keynote—simplicity. The arrangement of furniture should be given special study and on this as well as on every other point the speaker gave many helpful suggestions and answered many questions giving assistance particularly to the making and use of several kinds of furniture in the same room. The rugged typical of America and the Colonial period, she advocated also the revival of some of the arts and crafts of our grandmothers. Mrs. Wilmet went into detail on the subject of color in the home, artistic backgrounds, window draping and the treatment of walls and floors showing beautiful colored slides and decorative materials to further illustrate her points.

Everyone was intensely interested in all that Mrs. Wilmet said as was shown by the rapt attention and the many questions asked. The lantern slides, too, were not only instructive but were beautiful to look at.

Clintondale, Saugerties, Milton, High Falls and West Hurley are the other places where the Home Bureau cooperating with local organizations will hold meetings similar to the one held at New Paltz. The subject of Home Decoration is taken up by Mrs. Wilmet is not a bad but one of the most important problems every homemaker has to solve.

New Reason for Behaving

Young red cedar trees in the Watkins National Forest are no longer injured by the birds which graze there. The solution of the problem was simple, the cattle are now disbanded. One of the drawbacks in protecting national forests has been the injury which was apt to result to the young growth from the grazing and milk.

After disbanding methods on the Watkins were fairly worked out and the horses were removed of the range, red cedar began to grow rather plentifully all over the forest under the oak canopy. As the cedar began to reach a little size the superstitious of the forest believed that it was being broken rather badly by cattle, both in the day and in the darkness. After some consideration the superintendent decided to ask the cattlemen, users of the forest to run some but disbanded cattle on the Watkins.

TREE AND STAR

"For some reason or other," said the Tree, "part of my leaves are red. They've changed color much earlier than usual this season."

"If the truth were known, and I see no reason why the truth should not always be known, I think those leaves got mixed up. They began to hurry too much. It is as bad sometimes to hurry too much as it is not to hurry enough."

"Those leaves hurried so fast they began to think they ought to be changing their color for the early fall season and then they found out that they were ahead of time and that they would have to wait for the other leaves to catch up to them."

"They hurried too much, you see. They hurried too much!"

"But the rest of the leaves didn't hurry like that. And so they are still green. You have been wondering. Star, why part of me was red while the other part was green."

"I'm like a lady who wears a dark dress and a bright red hat! That's what I think I am like, anyway."

"Now the tree stood upon a very high hill and a bright star up in the sky was talking to the tree."

"You are so very bright, Star," said the Tree. "You are like a golden star."

"Ah," said the Star. "I did well in my sky lessons. That is why I look so bright."

"What do you mean, whatever in the world do you mean?" asked the Tree.

"You must ask me whatever in the sky do I mean," twinkled the Star.

"Well, whatever in the sky do you mean?" asked the Tree. "I didn't know there were sky lessons," the Tree added.

"Oh, yes," said the Star, "there are sky lessons, and those of us who are so very bright have done well in our lessons and so we look bright."

"Creatures who do well in their lessons look bright, as a rule, you know. We've had lessons in brightness and I'm at the head of the sky class. There are some other very bright stars, you'll notice, and they have done well in their sky lessons, too."

"I see," said the Tree. "I see."

"There are many bright people," said the Star, "and I love to smile down upon them and tell them how much I admire them."

"There is a dear little lady who is very bright and who knows all about flowers. I think it is very sensible too, to know a lot about flowers."

"She speaks to every flower by name. Every rose she calls by its right name. And she knows the different flowers as they're growing up out of the ground from their seeds, without having to look at the marking on the sticks to see which flowers are which!"

"She gives flowers to people who come to see her, and is so generous with her beloved roses. People call her Auntie Scott, but the flowers call her Dear Lady, and how they do love her!"

"She digs about them and makes them grow. She is bright enough, too, to know just what the flowers want without their having to say a word."

"And as it is hard for flowers to say even one word apiece, or one word between them, it is so nice that she knows just what they want. Ah, yes, she is very bright about her flowers, and knows all about them. And her flowers are very bright, for they've been brought up in a splendid flower school. They're being taught to be bright, for they've been shown how to be bright and have been helped by the dear little lady."

"There are the Mrs. Robinson and John. They're bright about knowing where they can get the best food, and that is at their home."

"Topey, the cat, is bright because he knows which is the most comfortable chair, and always sits in it. He sits in a lovely big armchair."

"Ah, you creatures are bright in different ways, but I'm glad I'm a bright star."

The Hawaiian girls, after the manner of the Sibylline sisters will dispense the fortunes from the exquisite Hawaiian bowl brought from Hawaii by Miss Louise Van Wagonen and the palmisters and cardsters supervised by Miss Edith Case, will be in evidence.

As if these were not attractions enough, there will be Hawaiian leis for sale, and the ukulele girls will sing popular songs of the Islands, and a little formal program after the opening processional at eight o'clock.

The event will be followed by Mrs. Van Buren's elaborate program and the dancing on the Willite will complete the evening's round of pleasure.

"INNOCENCE"—AND AN EGG

It Was Milwaukee Man's Misfortune That He Should Thus Have Been Doubly Armed.

A certain Milwaukee man bought an egg for next morning's breakfast late one night and placed it carefully in the outside pocket of his coat. On the way home he met a suspicious policeman.

"Are you armed?" inquired the guardian of the peace.

"With innocence," replied the citizen.

The policeman had never heard of that. He decided it must be some new kind of Swiss cannon for night use, backed the citizen against a wall and proceeded to pat him from head to foot in search for bumps. Ultimately he struck the lone egg.

"Ah-ha!" said the cop. "I thought so."

What he thought was never said. He jammed his hand down into the pocket and the egg exploded—erupted by brutality. It spread over the side of the pocket. It clung to the cop's fingers, strictly, genuinely. The cop pulled his hand out and looked away.

"I got a notion to run you in for carrying a shell game!" he said, thickly. "Go on—hustle it!"

"What what—the egg?" asked the man severely.

The cop showed him two marks before his mind gave out.—Milwaukee Journal.

There's various kinds of forgery. Counterfeits, says the medical examiner, never killed anybody. And still during a girl has pointed, are also accused to kill.—Pittsburgh (Pa.) Times.

In loving memory of John McHardy who died June 16, 1920.

Just one year ago today you left us. To the beautiful better land. We have all been very lonely since you went away.

But now time will understand.

We miss your cheerful and loving smile.

And your presence everywhere.

Our family circle is broken now.

For we have still the vacant chair.

But your memory we will always cherish.

Till we meet in the better land.

And I know we will always be happy.

For there is no parting there.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 16.—A number of favorable developments over night led to a stronger tone in the stock market in the early trading today. Mexican Petroleum was one of the chief features, advancing 3 points to 117, on the official statement declaring the report that the Mexican oil fields were going dry to be without foundation. Northern Pacific advanced 1 1/2 to 65 on the declaration of the regular dividend. Baldwin Locomotive rose one point to 73 1/2. Atlantic Gulf rose 1/2 to 23 and United States Steel gained 1/2 to 75 1/2.

Pan-American Petroleum made an opening gain of 3 points at 50, followed by a reaction at 49. The sugar stocks showed the improvement to a moderate extent. American Sugar advanced 1 1/2 to 49 1/2. The steel industry made substantial gains. Steelmaker started with a gain of 1 1/2 at 77, but after selling at 77 1/2 reacted to 76 1/2 and later rallied again to 77 1/2.

After the first 15 minutes the market developed a tendency to breaking into two distinct divisions. The railroad stocks were active and strong, being in demand without regard to the weakness in several groups of industrials. Louisville and Nashville became the most prominent feature, advancing 1/2 to 113 1/2, on the largest trading that has been made in that stock in many years. Northern Pacific after reacting to 63 moved up again to 65 1/2, a gain of 2 points. U. S. Steel which reacted from the opening moved up again to 75 1/2 and Baldwin after reacting from its high of 74 to 72 1/2, advanced to 73 1/2.

Further severe losses were sustained in many issues in the afternoon trading when Mexican Petroleum was offered in large volumes, falling to 102, a loss of 14 points from the opening. Pan-American dropped to 44 1/2, a loss of over 5 1/2 points, and a number of the other oils were down from 1 to over 3 points. Louisville and Nashville which was the strongest feature in the forenoon advanced to 113 1/2, suddenly reversed its movements, and dropped to 108. The tobacco stocks became steadier, but a further loss of one point was sustained in American Tobacco bringing it down to 115 against 121 at the close yesterday.

POLISH WOMEN FOUGHT WELL.

Famous "Brigade of Death" Gave Good Account of Itself on Fields of Battle.

The occasion of the demobilization of the women's brigade in the Polish army, which consisted of 3,000 fighters, has led to the consideration of its actual services during the world war. The commander of this "death" organization expressed some doubts about her men proving of much value on the firing line, but upon what her conclusion was founded is not indicated. The records of the brigade show that 70 women fighters deserted to get married. It may be on this score that the commander feels that their efficiency is dubious.

Waiving this one drawback, however, the discipline and fearlessness of these women who had prepared themselves for active fighting are rather significant. In tenacity and intrepidity they probably could not be outclassed or perhaps equaled by the women of any other country. The actual casualties of the brigade were not more than 100, but even this number indicates that its members faced considerable danger and the possibility of death. To be able to meet an emergency, to be equipped and drilled for combat, and to be prepared to die on the battlefield may not be what should be expected of women, nor ways in which they can best serve, but the brigade has shown its mettle—Knickerbocker Press.

WORLD NOT YET FILLED UP.

There Are Many Places Where the Lover of Solitude Can Find What He Is Looking For.

Crowded as the world seems to be getting, Robinson Crusoe could find a haven today, and he would not have to resort to the polar regions, either. Numerous islands still dot the seas where a visitor would find no living soul and there are others where the inhabitants are living in almost primitive simplicity, says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

Nor is it necessary for you to choose a plot of land belonging to any other than the United States. There is Baker's Island, 3,725 miles out from San Francisco, as well as many other such isolated dots in the Pacific, where there will be no chance of getting even a faithful Friday to share your lot. Vessels used to haul guano from the island, but today the deposits are practically worked out. If you feel that you must have your wife somewhere in the offing you can send her on to Howland Island, 25 miles to the westward, an equally deserted spot, and row over to see her when you get bored with your freedom.

Progress on Isle of Man.

On the quaint and picturesque Isle of Man, made famous by Hall Caine's fiction, an ancient pump of the chain-bucket variety, built into a masonry abutment on the face of a rock cliff, lifts its endless load of water some eighty feet from the pool below, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. For many years a big steam engine of obsolete form, slow and extravagant of fuel, attended to the duty of turning the chain shaft. But now the old boiler and cylinder are gone, and in their place a modern wind motor has been installed. Its slim, efficient steel form rising from the cliff top in striking yet not inconspicuous contrast with the primitive ruggedness that marks the earlier work of man and nature. The whirling 26-foot wheel of the new motive power now is drawing up 14,000 gallons of water an hour, an average figure, and it is significant of the value of modern methods that the saving of no longer needed for a hungry boiler, soon paid the cost of the mill.

Projected Aerial Newspaper.

The last word in journalism is the Aerial Mail, a daily newspaper, which is edited, printed and published from an airplane in flight. The Daily Mail, which is sponsoring it, says it will contain the latest British and continental news, political, financial and general, received both at the moment the airplane takes off and while it is flying. The news being sent is wireless. A special printing plant has been installed and newspapers will be distributed by means of parachutes dropping the editions into the towns the airplane flies over.

Chief Self-accused.

A friend who had known Thomas Riley Marshall for a great many years, saw him after the case of officer back, was removed from his shoulders, just as he was about to board a Washington street car. He stopped and asked: "Tell me, Mr. Marshall, what can I do to make the office of vice president a great office?" "I'll tell you in one minute, and I won't even have to touch this car," said Mr. Marshall. "There isn't anything you can do. The vice president will always be characterized as the king."

Something Just as Good.

"Have you Thomas Thornehead under the sea?" "No, no, no," said the serious clerk, but I am very sure under water that you will be as good as swimming."

The Indispensable.

"Who is the indispensable secretary?" "A kind of investigation." "Why?" "The government." "Why?" "The government."

Statistical Application.

Statistical application of mathematics is being given to all branches of science, and in a number of cases it is being applied to the study of human life.

BOTH IN THE PINK GEORGES AND JACK FINDS CORBETT BOYS, SAYS "TAD"

(By "Tad.")
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, June 14.—What a difference there is in the training camps of Dempsey and Carpenter compared to other big fellows.

Carpenter is probably the happiest heavyweight contender we've ever had the pleasure of watching. He's forever laughing, playing tricks on his mates and telling jokes. He's playing leap frog, fooling with the kids and tossing an occasional sweet glance toward some good looking Jane who happens to be looking on. There's nothing on his mind but his hat. He loves his work because it's play to him.

Dempsey is almost as finely drawn already as a thoroughbred race horse ready to face the barrier. He could hop into the ring with Georges Carpentier tomorrow, if necessary. In fact, he has reached the point near his top form a bit too soon for his own benefit and will have to exercise extreme care to avoid over-training.

The decision of Manager Jack Kearns to give the champion several days' rest was certainly a wise thing and during the next week or ten days, according to Kearns, Jack will take an occasional lay off, doing only the lightest kind of road work or maybe playing a ball game at Air-port.

The speed with which both Dempsey and Carpenter have rounded in to form is surprising, but it goes beyond the shadow of a doubt that neither is under-estimating the importance of the coming battle in the slightest degree.

Despite the fact that both have practically reached top form this early I do not look for any harmful results for the men who supervise their training are past masters in the art of handling boxers.

Jack Kearns is a very keen judge of condition, especially Dempsey's. He knows every whim and every move of the champion and he is the one man, with the possible exception of Teddy Hayes, Dempsey's constant companion, whom the champion can't fool into believing he is feeling like a cat if he isn't, which is a very seldom occurrence these days.

Descamps and Gus Wilson are just as well posted regarding Carpenter's moods. If anything they are more attentive to him than Dempsey's trainers, but Carpenter demands that sort of thing. He is in the habit of being waited on at every turn, whereas Dempsey, who got used to shuffling for himself a good many years ago, knows how to help himself and does it.

Dempsey today is a bundle of steel springs. His muscles are strong and supple. His skin has that ruddy, satiny look that glows with health and his eye is keen as an eagle's. In fact, his condition simply sticks out all over him.

Since I last saw him at Airport several weeks ago the champion has taken off about seven pounds. His weight varies from day to day, depending on whether or not he does a lot of hard work. He is at an age now where it is easy for him to put on weight over night and he is a big eater he has to do a certain amount of work to keep the fat away. That is why he will not take any long lay offs between now and July 2 though there will be a few halts called in his work.

The champion's lay off came to a halt today and he resumed his regular routine at Airport. He was scheduled to do eight miles on the road this morning and box three two-round bouts with Burke, Williams and Renault. Moving pictures of Dempsey's training activities were to be taken today.

After You've Tried "Everything"

THE worst indictment of most methods of overcoming disease conditions in the human body may be found in the large number of sick folks who say: "I have tried everything; nothing does me any good."

"I have tried everything, yet I don't get well." The man who says this is not very enthusiastic about ANY healing method; he already knows so many that won't work. But when some new method comes along, he is usually willing to try it, on what he considers the thousand to one chance that it may benefit him. Hope springs eternal.

The great health science known as Chiropractic is so new it has only broken into a few of the dictionaries. In a short span of years it has restored over two million people to health. And many of these people were what is termed "hopeless cases." They tried Chiropractic as a last resort.

When Chiropractic first appeared all the established methods of combating disease said: "Go get a reputation. We can't be annoyed. Go get a reputation."

And Chiropractic DID. It restored the "hopeless cases"—those who had been given up by established practitioners of other methods. Chiropractic succeeds because it is right in line with Nature's own laws. Nature is the only real curative agent. Chiropractic co-operates with Nature. Judge it solely by results—results in "hopeless cases;" results in all kinds of cases. Chiropractic removes the cause of disease. It does not treat effects, as do other methods.

If you have "tried everything" in an effort to get well, without lasting results—now try Chiropractic. Go to a Chiropractor TODAY. He will simply adjust your spinal column to normal so that nerve energy can flow freely along all the nerve trunks branching away from the spinal cord and going to every body part.

With this accomplished, your whole body machine will function normally and Nature will usually effect a cure.

Chiropractic has been, and is, restoring to health many, many "hopeless cases." Though confining himself to spinal adjustment the Chiropractor is not limited to merely spinal disorders. Ninety-five per cent of all diseases to which the human body is subject have responded to spinal adjustments. It will be worth your while to try Chiropractic even though you've tried "everything."
